Voltaro: Brand Guidelines

Version 1.0, November 2026. Demo document: Voltaro is a fictional brand.

About Voltaro

Voltaro makes electric scooters for Indian cities. People trust us with their daily commute and their safety, so every post must be accurate, calm and fair. These rules apply to every post, ad and partner collaboration.

Voice and tone

Be confident and calm. Never use fear or pressure, such as 'book before stock runs out', 'don't miss out', 'hurry' or 'last chance'.

Use at most one exclamation mark in a post. Never write words in ALL CAPS for emphasis; offer codes are the only exception.

Names, prices and hashtags

Write our names exactly as Voltaro, Voltaro Zip and Voltaro Zip Pro. Never write Voltero, VoltaRo or Volt Aro.

Write prices with the rupee symbol and Indian digit grouping, for example ₹89,999. Never write Rs. and never leave out the comma.

Every Instagram post must include the hashtag #RideVoltaro.

On LinkedIn, use at most one emoji per post.

Performance and battery claims

Every number we publish (range, top speed, charging time, price, discounts, sales) must match an approved fact exactly.

Always call our range the 'certified range', and never present it as real-world range.

Never say 'zero emissions'. Say 'zero tailpipe emissions'.

Never promise a lifetime battery or any warranty longer than the approved one.

Never call a scooter the safest, the fastest or India's number one.

Never compare Voltaro with a competitor brand by name.

Prices, subsidies and offers

Never promise a government subsidy amount. Say only 'subsidy as per applicable state policy'.

Every offer or discount must match an active approved offer, including the code, and must say 'T&C apply'.

Partners, safety and confidential work

Every paid or partner post must start with #ad or 'Paid partnership'.

Never show or describe riding without a helmet.

Never mention internal project names or unreleased products in any post.
